
Books, like proverbs, receive their chief value from the stamp and esteem of the ages through which they have passed.
Sir William Temple

Cover: Woodcut of a young king. In addition to recorded bestsellers and magazines, the talking-book collection contains many hidden treasures—classics such as the Bible, Shakespeare's plays and verse, the novels of Dickens, as well as works of wit and wisdom from earlier ages.

In Brief

New Bibliography

Flexible-disc and large-print editions of the NLS bibliography Young Adult Fiction 1981 have been produced. The recorded edition lists titles on disc or cassette. The large-print edition lists titles in braille and both recorded formats.

The new bibliography contains new and old titles with a variety of themes of interest for the twelve to twenty age group and for adults as well. Books are grouped by format in thirteen subject categories, including "Adventure," "Family," "Fantasy and Supernatural," "Humor," "Love," "Mystery and Suspense," and "Sports."

The large-print edition includes an author-title index, listings of free subscription magazines and other bibliographies available from cooperating libraries, and book order forms.

Young Adult Fiction 1981 has been sent to all readers who ordered the large-print or recorded editions. Free copies of both editions are also available from cooperating libraries.

Volunteer Sources for Reading Materials

Readers can locate volunteer producers of specialized or hard-to-find reading materials by referring to the new NLS directory Volunteers Who Produce Books 1981: Braille, Tape, Large Type. Free copies of the directory can be ordered in large print from cooperating libraries.

This latest edition includes information on using the directory and sections on special reading materials, collections, and education resources.

The main section, "Volunteers Who Produce Books," lists volunteer groups alphabetically by state and by cities within each state. Entries show name, address, telephone number, and services provided. Each entry carries a number for quick reference from the index. Readers can locate the nearest source by referring to the volunteers section. The index lists groups who provide such services as recording, duplication, and large-print typing, and whose specializations include music, mathematics, and languages.

Magazine Corner

Weekly Book Reviews

Book World, a weekly book review magazine, has been chosen to replace Books of the Times, which published its last issue in October 1981.

Subscribers to the flexible-disc edition of Books of the Times will automatically receive Book World. This weekly, a supplement to the Washington Post Sunday edition, carries reviews by specialists and current authors. Issues include reviews of groups of recent or forthcoming books.

The first issue of Book World to be produced on flexible discs carried special sections on selected nonfiction and children's books, in addition to the regular bestseller rankings and news from the book market. In the lead article "The Image Makers:

Packaging Political Candidates,'' national political reporter and syndicated columnist David. S. Broder reviewed two new books.

Production of Book World began with the November 8 issue. Free subscriptions to Book World on flexible discs can be ordered by writing or calling cooperating libraries.

Children's Magazine Package Changed

In January, subscribers to National Geographic World, Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine, and Jack and Jill will begin receiving these three flexible-disc magazines for children in two packages instead of one. National Geographic World will be mailed separately; Ranger Rick's will be mailed in the same package with Jack and Jill.

Readers and current subscribers will have the option to order or cancel either of the two packages simply by notifying their cooperating libraries. Current subscribers will automatically receive all three magazines as in the past.

The decision for the change came about as the result of a survey of subscribers. The survey showed two distinct audiences for these magazines—one group preferred Ranger Rick's and Jack and Jill, and the other group preferred National Geographic World.

National Geographic World, published monthly by the National Geographic Society, offers short articles on adventure, exploration, and wildlife. Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine, published monthly by the National Wildlife Federation, carries stories, articles, and poems about nature and conservation. Jack and Jill, published nine times a year by the Children's Better Health Institute, contains a regular feature on life in different countries, as well as stories, short articles on nature and science, poems, and jokes.

Smithsonian Institution

Air and Space Museum

The Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum has expanded service to disabled visitors. Visually impaired visitors can now orient themselves, starting at the main information desk and inspecting a scale model of the building interior, complete with braille labels.

By calling in advance, visitors can arrange for a tour that includes thermoform or two-dimensional raised-line drawings of air and space craft and models of the exhibits in the museum's twenty-three galleries.

As a complement to the exhibits, the Smithsonian Institution offers large-print brochures describing the museum and cassette tapes with historical information on such pioneering craft as Lindbergh's Spirit of Saint Louis, John Glenn's Friendship 7, and Chuck Yeager's Glamorous Glennis.

Visitors can order in advance a cassette recording of the museum's publication

Rockets, Missiles, and Spacecraft of the National Air and Space Museum (RC 16427) from cooperating libraries. Aircraft of the National Air and Space Museum, which was recently recorded on cassettes for the national talking-book collection, will be announced in Talking Book Topics as soon as it is available.

To request a special tour, model displays, thermoform drawings, or additional services, call the museum's Education Services Division at (area code 202) 357-1400. The museum is located at Sixth Street and Independence Avenue Southwest, Washington, DC, and is open seven days a week from 10:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Information on Employment and Health Care

The Mainstream Information Center provides a wide range of information on employment and health care of interest to disabled individuals.

The center houses a library of periodicals and books on health and employment and produces several publications, including In the Mainstream, a bimonthly newsletter on affirmative action issues in the employment of handicapped people, and Project HEALTH, a quarterly newsletter on equal health care and employment for disabled people.

For information on the center's services and publications, call (area code 202) 833-1162, or write to Mainstream Information Center, 1200 Fifteenth Street NW, Washington, DC 20005.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of special interest to readers. Materials mentioned here, however, are not part of the NLS program.

Christian Psychology. The producers of the interdenominational cassette magazine Evangelical Message have added two books to their cassette library—Run and Not Be Weary: The Christian's Answer to Fatigue by Dwight L. Carlson, M.D., and The Psychology of Jesus and Mental Health by Raymond Kramer. The books are available free on loan for one month. To order, write to Evangelical Message, 61 South Lee Street Beverly Hills, Florida 32665.

Diabetes Publications. The National Diabetes Information Clearinghouse provides free regular-print publications, including the news bulletin Diabetes Dateline. For more information about the new bulletin and other publications, write to National Diabetes Information Clearinghouse, 805 Fifteenth Street NW, Suite 500, Washington, DC 20005 or call (area code 202) 842-7630. For speedy delivery of their publications, enclose a self-addressed label with your request.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently recorded for the NLS program. Books with the code RD are hard or flexible discs recorded at 8 rpm. Books with the code RC are four-track cassettes recorded at 15/16 ips. Cassette titles marked with a dagger were recorded earlier on flexible discs. To order disc or cassette books, fill out the order form and send it to your cooperating library.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Scourby Honored at Kennedy Center

In February NLS presented narrator Alexander Scourby with an award for artistic excellence and more than forty years of service to the national talking-book program. The event marked the opening of an NLS demonstration collection at the Library of Congress Performing Arts Library at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. Taking music and the performing arts as its theme, the collection opened with displays of disc, cassette, and braille books, players, current catalogs, bibliographies, brochures, and information on the national braille and talking-book program.

Mr. Scourby attended the ceremony between his performances in The Late Christopher Bean, a play staged at the Kennedy Center during February starring Jean Stapleton and Pat Hingle.

Mr. Scourby began his career as a talking-book narrator at the American Foundation for the Blind in New York City in the spring of 1937, with training and experience as a Shakespearean actor. Since then he has won national recognition as a leading radio and television narrator and popularity among readers and narrators of talking books. During his career he has narrated more than 400 NLS books, many of which have been reissued several times. He has also performed in Broadway and off-Broadway theater, radio soap operas, television plays and documentaries, and films.

Among narrators he is esteemed for his way of bringing books to life, taking the listener back through the voice of the storyteller to the experience relived. Experienced narrators say of Scourby that it is not the voice of the narrator the reader hears, it is the sound of the book talking. So it is with the opening of the Bible narrated by Scourby. As the story unfolds, the listener hears the inspired writer's re-creation of the first stirrings of life emerging from the darkness and void.

Among the classics Mr. Scourby has narrated during his forty-five-year career are the following:

The Bible: Old Testament (RC 8797)

Buddenbrooks (RC 14404) by Thomas Mann

The Great Gatsby (RC 16147) by F. Scott Fitzgerald

The Iliad (RC 9489) by Homer

Les Miserables (RD 7574) by Victor Hugo

The Odyssey (RC 14869) by Homer

The Sound and the Fury (RC 9506) by William Faulkner

Alexander Scourby's recording of James Joyce's Ulysses, done in 1967 and no longer widely available, has been so popular over the years that NLS is now in the process of having it reissued. For more information about these and other books narrated by Mr. Scourby, call or write your cooperating library.

Bestselling Books 1980/81

Every month, NLS book selectors winnow through print reviews and bestseller lists to choose new titles for the collection. The most promising titles, those expected to appeal to the widest audience, are selected for production on flexible discs and on cassettes.

The following list shows bestselling titles recently recorded on discs and cassettes. Titles are listed in descending order of popularity, as ranked in the World Almanac and Book of Facts, 1982, under "Best-Selling Books of 1980–81." An asterisk following the brief description indicates the book contains passages with strong language, violence, or explicit descriptions of sex.

Size and Shape of Collection

In the early stages of refining NLS collection-building policies, NLS staff recently made a computer-assisted analysis of the national collection. Though their findings will need further refinement and verification, they do give a rough idea of the size and makeup of the collection, and confirm or contradict some assumptions.

The findings revealed a total of 33,602 titles, not including magazines or reading materials produced by state and local cooperating libraries. Nearly 300 recorded titles in Spanish make up the bulk of the foreign-language segment of the national collection. Total holdings are divided almost equally between recorded and braille books—53 percent recorded, 47 percent braille.

Disc books still outnumber cassettes in a ratio of approximately 10 disc titles to every 7 cassette titles, though this ratio will change gradually as increasing emphasis is placed on cassette production. Handcopied-braille titles outnumber press-braille titles in a ratio of 11 to 4.

The figures also showed a collection whose composition is in close agreement with the guidelines established by the NLS Ad Hoc Advisory Group on Collection Building Activities and NLS librarians. These guidelines recommended a mixture of 50 percent nonfiction to 50 percent fiction titles, and 80 percent adult to 20 percent children's titles.

Magazine Corner

Magazine of the Month

In April, subscribers to the Talking Book Magazine of the Month will receive a flexible-disc edition of Channels of Communication, a magazine which went into print last year. The new bimonthly, which published four issues in 1981, covers news in the world of broadcasting, with an emphasis on television.

A recent issue of Channels carried feature articles on media personality Bill Moyers, Solidarity's bid for a voice in Polish television, public attitudes toward Archie Bunker, businessmen cast as the villains in the soaps, and other topics of current interest and debate. Issues include regular columns such as "The Public Eye," "TV Guidance," book reviews, and letters.

Other selections for the Talking Book Magazine of the Month program this year include the Economist and Families. By subscribing to the Talking Book Magazine of the Month, readers can sample new and different print magazines on flexible discs. At the end of the year, subscribers are asked to rate the magazines offered; the results are taken into consideration when NLS is planning the next year's Magazine of the Month selections or addition of a new magazine to the regular free magazine program.

For more information or a free subscription to the Talking Book Magazine of the Month, readers should write or call their cooperating libraries.

In Brief

Features Added to Cassette Machines

Two new features have been built into the most recent NLS cassette players. Engineered for greater reader convenience, the C-80 model cassette machines offer pitch restoration and a low-battery signal in addition to the usual standard features.

Users are asked to do some of their reading while this new player is unplugged. The low-battery signal sounds when it is time to connect the machine to a wall outlet and recharge the batteries. The signal is a high-pitched hum triggered to sound when the batteries no longer hold enough charge to power all the electrical components. On fully charged batteries, the C-80 machines will play for a minimum of six hours.

The pitch-restoration feature may prove useful to readers who like to read at faster or slower than normal speeds. Used in conjunction with the standard variable-speed control, the pitch-restoration device maintains the pitch of the narrator's voice, although some sound quality is sacrificed. With the pitch-restoration switch in the "off" position, recordings played on the C-80 machines should sound the same as they do on all cassette players produced since 1976. Pitch restoration adds a feature and takes none away.

Pitch restoration may be a valuable tool for students, professionals, and others with a need to cover large chunks of material in a short time. It may also be useful for people with some forms of hearing impairment and for anyone who feels more comfortable with slower readings.

Research and development of the pitch-restoration device began in 1971 after a variable-speed control was added to cassette machines. The variable-speed control enabled users to speed up and slow down their recordings but caused the narrator's voice to drone at low speeds and to sound like Donald Duck at high speeds.

The pitch-restoration device in the C-80 model restores the pitch of the narrator's voice to normal frequencies but somewhat distorts the sound. To keep the pitch on an even level, minute segments of the original narration must be removed at regular intervals for compressed (faster) speech and repeated at regular intervals for expanded (slower) speech. This process produces sound that varies considerably from normal speech in frequency and syllable duration. The amount of speech compression and expansion possible is about the same as on earlier model cassette machines—from about four-fifths to two and a half times normal speech.

An instruction tape supplied with each C-80 machine describes in detail the operation of the pitch-restoration feature. Reading ease improves with practice and familiarity. The device will be most useful to those who invest several hours of practice.

Readers may achieve better sound by moving the tone control to the right for the fastest speeds and to the left for more moderate speeds. Practice at very high speeds can improve reading ease at more moderate speeds.

Adjustments will vary from cassette to cassette, depending on such factors as the original pitch of the narrator's voice, the type of material read, the original reading rate of the narrator, and the recording itself.

The addition of the pitch-restoration device to the C-80 machine is to some extent experimental. Reader reaction will determine whether the device will be considered for future models. Readers are urged to dirct comments and questions on the new C-80 cassette machines to their cooperating libraries.

Magazine Corner

Reviewing Music

Music lovers, musicians, and audio buffs can stay current with their interests by ordering free subscriptions to a variety of music magazines in different formats.

Music Journal and Stereo Review, for example, both with a wide circulation among print readers, are recorded on discs as talking-book magazines for the national program.

Music Journal, published bimonthly, provides an overview of contemporary music by music authorities and critics. Articles are geared to music educators, students, and music lovers. Issues include reviews of books, recordings, and coverage of recent events.

Stereo Review, published monthly, evaluates audio equipment and recordings and offers general articles on music and advice for hi-fi users. Issues include test reports and reviews of recent popular and classical recordings.

Serious music lovers and students may scan selected articles from a variety of print music publications with free subscriptions to Contemporary Sound Track: A Review of Pop, Jazz, Rock, and Country, produced bimonthly on cassettes, or to the Musical Mainstream, a large-print, cassette, and braille bimonthly for students, teachers, and classical music enthusiasts.

Readers can range far and wide in their selection of music articles on a topic of their interest with free subscriptions to a cassette or braille edition of Music Article Guide. This regular-print quarterly indexes articles from 135 American music periodicals. Free copies of the indexed articles selected are recorded or brailled at the reader's request by the NLS Music Section.

For free subscriptions and more information about these music magazines, write or call a cooperating library.

Ziegler Magazine, Anniversary Issue

In March this year, the Matilda Ziegler Magazine for the Blind celebrated its beginnings with a special anniversary issue.

The March 1982 issue, number 893, chronicled the magazine's seventy-five-year history, featured a biographical portrait of the founding editor, Walter G. Holmes, and excerpted Holme's forty years of correspondence with Helen Keller.

The anniversary issue also carried the five prize-winning essays from the 110 entries in last year's essay-writing contest. Essays were keyed to a turning point in the writers' lives.

The Matilda Ziegler Magazine is published ten times a year in grade 2 braille and on 8 rpm discs. The magazine regularly carries topical articles from a wide selection of periodicals, book excerpts, short fiction, poetry, and humor, along with information of interest to blind people. Free subscriptions to the braille or disc edition may be ordered from Matilda Ziegler Magazine for the Blind, 20 West Seventeenth Street, New York, NY 10011. Large-type reprints of the magazine's history featured in the March issue may be ordered free by writing for "The Ziegler Magazine Story."

New Announcements at End of Books

At the request of readers, NLS is revising recording specifications for disc and cassette books. The new specifications will instruct narrators to read the name and address of book publishers at the end of the recording if the address appears in the print edition.

Narrators have for some time included the publisher's address in all recorded magazines. This announcement is read after the copyright notice at the beginning of the magazine.

Jobs with National Defense

Defense Mapping Agency is actively recruiting disabled people. As part of this effort, the agency recently published Career Opportunities for Disabled Persons, a free six-page large-print brochure.

The brochure outlines the agency's functions, benefits for federal employees, accommodations and services for disabled employees, and addresses of branch offices throughout the United States. As the largest mapping, charting, and geodetic agency in the world, Defense Mapping Agency serves the U.S. armed forces and other national security operations.

Readers may order free copies of the large-print brochure, application forms, and more information by writing to Paul A. Hayduk—Handicapped Program Coordinator, Defense Mapping Agency, Civilian Personnel Division, Building 56, U.S. Naval Observatory, Washington, DC 20305, or by calling Mr. Hayduk at (area code 202) 254-4905 or 254-4906.

The following announcements may be of special interest to readers. Materials mentioned here, however, are not part of the NLS program.

Access Guides. Disabled national and international travelers may find The International Directory of Access Guides, 1981/1982 helpful in preparing for trips in the United States and overseas. The directory, free in regular print, lists sources for 458 guidebooks in regular print. The directory groups guidebooks by country and city, and includes a separate listing for airports, air travel, hotel and motel chains, bus and rail travel, and miscellaneous guides. Individual copies of the new directory may be ordered free from Rehabilitation International USA, 20 West Fortieth Street, New York, NY 10018.

Visitors to Boston and New York may also order two regular-print guidebooks published too recently to be listed in the new directory. Access to Boston, with information on fourteen neighborhoods in Boston, Brookline, and Cambridge, is available free in regular print from Disabled Students Services, Boston University, 775 Commonwealth Avenue, Room 411, Boston, MA 02215. Access New York City Guide, a listing of sites of general interest with a foldout map of Manhattan, may be ordered in regular print for $2 a copy, including postage and handling in the United States, $4 a copy via overseas surface mail, and $6 a copy via overseas airmail, orders payable to the Junior League of the City of New York. To order, write to Access New York City Guide, Junior League of New York City, 130 East Eightieth Street, New York, NY 10021.

Accessibility Series. The National Center for a Barrier Free Environment has added ten titles to its regular-print series of Access Information Bulletins, including Accessibility for Persons with VisualImpairments. The twenty-four bulletin series is written in language for the general reader and provides general and technical information, design graphics, and a listing of other resources. For a price list of Access Information Bulletins, write to the National Center for a Barrier Free Environment, 1140 Connecticut Avenue NW, Suite 1006, Washington, DC 20036, or call toll free 800-424-2809.

AT&T Report. Visually impaired shareholders in American Telephone and Telegraph Company can order free copies of the company's annual report on cassettes, on discs, or in braille. Write to AT&T Secretary, 195 Broadway, Room 2615, New York, NY 10007.

Ham Radio. Courage Handi-Ham System offers free memberships to handicapped people interested in learning to become amateur radio operators. The system is an international service organization numbering more than 2,000 radio amateurs. Volunteers help with training, lend textbooks and basic equipment, and provide many other services to student members. For a free copy of their regular-print booklet and application forms, write to Courage Handi-Ham System, Courage Center, 3915 Golden Valley Road, Minneapolis, MN 55422.

Independent Living. Rehabilitation Gazette, volume 24 in regular print, features a report on the October 1981 International Conference on Respiratory Rehabilitation and Post-Polio Aging Problems and articles on independent living, pain control through self-hypnosis, hospital care problems, and female sexuality. The Rehabilitation Gazette is a nonprofit international information service and journal on independent living. Volume 24 may be ordered in regular print for $5.50 a copy, postage included, from Rehabilitation Gazette, 4502 Maryland Avenue, Saint Louis, MO 63108.

Pen Pals. Exceptional Parent, a magazine for families of children with disabilities, is forming a pen pal program designed to match people with similar interests. Children can join this program by sending a letter with information on their age, sex, and disabilities. They should also be sure to indicate if they wish to write to a pen pal. Send requests to Pen Pals, c/o Exceptional Parent, 296 Boylston Street, Boston, MA 02116.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently recorded for the NLS program. Books with the code RD are hard or flexible discs recorded at 8 rpm. Books with the code RC are four-track cassettes recorded at 15/16 ips. Cassette titles marked with a dagger were recorded earlier on flexible discs. To order disc or cassette books, fill out the order form and send it to your cooperating library.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

In Brief

Update for Cassette Users

Recent research has turned up some new information of use to cassette readers. Cassette machines actually perform with greater reliability, and battery life is lengthened, if cassette players are allowed to operate on battery power alone most of the time.

Readers are therefore advised to do most of their reading while their machines are disconnected from wall outlets, and to connect the machines periodically to recharge the batteries. Cassette machines should not be left plugged into an electrical outlet for more than a few days at a time.

Designing to Meet Different Needs

Current NLS projects are aimed at the development of a new easy-to-use cassette machine, soon to be tested. "This is a no-frills machine designed to play a standard talking-book cassette straight through," explains Henry Paris, chief of the NLS Materials Development Division. "You simply insert the cassette, start the machine, and select the volume in one operation, and read—for up to six hours. You can stop the machine whenever you want, but there's no need to touch it again until you're ready for the next cassette."

According to Mr. Paris, this recent design and development project fits neatly into the current and future line of disc and cassette players. "The idea," he says, "is not to design a super machine to replace all existing models, but rather to produce an array of machines, each tailored to a different use and need."

So far, the NLS machine family comprises the standard disc and cassette players and the recent C-80 model cassette player with pitch restoration and low-battery signal. New additions to this family are a combination disc and cassette player and the "easy" machine, both scheduled for production in early 1983.

The new "easy" machine is designed for readers who have difficulty operating the controls on standard cassette players. The prototype model has only two main controls, both easily located at the front of the machine and operated differently—a sliding switch and a push button. Moving the sliding switch toward the right starts the tape and selects the volume. The button is used for rewinding the tape for review.

Controls on the standard model either not needed or not available on this machine are the side-selector switch, tone control, eject key, and all the speed controls—speed selection, variable speed, and fast forward. Three of the separate controls on the standard model (stop, play, and volume) are combined in one.

Some controls are not needed because of automatic features. The machine automatically rewinds when a cassette is inserted and sounds a beep when the cassette is ready to play. To stop and then resume reading at the same point, the user must remember to leave the cassette in the machine. At the end of each side, the machine automatically plays the next side; there is no need to turn the cassette over. Readers can also select manual operation if they prefer. A switch on the right side of the machine deactivates the side-changing mechanism. In the manual mode, the machine will stop at the end of each side until instructed to resume play.

According to Mr. Paris, current design of the easy machine represents "an estimate of what might be most useful to some patrons." Extensive field testing scheduled for this year may result in further modifications and refinements to the prototype.

Place Orders Now

By the end of July, Talking Book Topics subscribers should have received a large-print order form for publications now in progress. The order form lists the bibliography Mysteries and two catalogs—Cassette Books 1982 and Braille Books 1982. All these publications are scheduled for production in large print this year; some may be produced also in braille or on flexible discs if funds are available and demand is adequate.

By checking the advance order form and returning it in the postage-free, preaddressed envelope that comes with it, readers will automatically receive the large-print publications ordered as soon as they are produced. Orders will be filled only for readers who check the advance order form and mail it by August 16. After the August 16 deadline, these publications will be available only by requesting them by title from cooperating libraries.

Magazine Corner

Magazine of the Month

Consumers Digest has been chosen as the July Talking Book Magazine of the Month. This small popular print bimonthly places heavy emphasis on consumer advocacy, education, and protection. Issues include advice and several brief product evaluations, but do not describe testing procedures.

By subscribing to Talking Book Magazine of the Month, readers receive a varied sampling of popular print magazines, all recorded on flexible discs. This year's selections have included Families, the Economist, Money Maker, Channels of Communication, and the Ring.

Twice a year, subscribers are asked to rate the magazines offered; the results ar taken into consideration when NLS is planning the next year's selections or ad dition of a new magazine to the regular free magazine program.

For more information or a free subscription to the Talking Book Magazine of the Month, readers should write or call their cooperating libraries.

Magazines for Young Adults

Young Adult Magazines, the program for teenagers and young adults, is being offered again this year in a flexible-disc edition. Subscribers to Young Adult Magazines 1982 will receive a different flexible-disk magazine every two months.

Delivery of the flexible-disc magazines will begin as soon as the list of six selections has been completed. For a free subscription to Young Adult Magazines 1982 on flexible disc, call or write your cooperating library.

Braille Forum in Spanish

The American Council of the Blind will begin recording its free magazine, the Braille Forum, in a-Spanish-language edition this year. The organization is compiling a mailing list of Spanish-reading subscribers.

The Spanish edition will be produced four times a year on flexible discs. Braille Forum contains news and information on government actions affecting the blind and visually impaired, changes in Social Security legislation, and American Council of the Blind activities.

To have your name placed on the Braille Forum mailing list, either in Spanish or in English, write to Mary T. Ballard—Editor, Braille Forum, 190 Lattimore Road, Rochester, NY 14620, or call (area code 716) 244-8364.

Cassette Catalog from NPR

National Public Radio (NPR), the agency that broadcasts "All Things Considered," sells cassette recordings of selected programs. NPR's latest catalog, free in regular print, lists 500 programs on cassettes, most available for $10 or less.

Programs cover a wide spectrum of current topics, including discussions of books, politics, the arts, business, economics, science, and education. NPR also publishes Cassette Gazette, a regular-print monthly update to the catalog.

Subscriptions to the newsletter are $12 a year. For a free catalog, subscriptions to Cassette Gazette, or more information, write to National Public Radio—Publishing Department, 2025 M Street NW, Washington, DC 20036.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. Materials mentioned here, however, are not part of the NLS program.

Baha'i Literature. Information on the goals and teachings of the Baha'i faith, as well as selections from Baha'i sacred writings, may be obtained on cassette or in braille by writing in print, cassette, or braille to Dean Martineau, 318 Judson, Tacoma, WA 98444.

Clothing Information. PRIDE Foundation (Promote Real Independence for the Disabled and Elderly) has published Dressing with Pride, a 116-page regular-print book which describes how to select clothing for handicapped and elderly people. The book includes information on clothes making, wardrobe selection, and adaptive devices for home management. To order a copy, send a check or money order for $11 to PRIDE Foundation, 1159 Poquonnock Road, Groton, CT 06840.

Large-Print Books. Thorndike Press has formed a Large Print Readers' Guild for direct delivery of newly published titles to visually impaired members. Thorndike titles include current mysteries, biographies, and a variety of general fiction. There is a membership fee to join the Guild. For more information, write to Thorndike Press, P.O. Box 157, Thorndike, ME 04986.

Religious Biographies. Evangelical Message, a Christian interdenominational magazine, has added several new titles to its free cassette-lending library. Recent additions were the life stories I Serve the God of Miracles by Rajamma Divinodum, God Is Fabulous by Frances Hunter, and Wow, God! by Sister Francis Clair. For more information about these and other books in the collection, write to Evangelical Message, 61 South Lee Street, Beverly Hills, FL 32665.

Rental Library. Tape Worm has started building a library of current bestsellers and classics on 1 7/8-ips two-track cassettes for sale or rental. Tape Worm specializes in fiction and nonfiction for reading pleasure and relaxation. The firm's professional narrators have recorded eighteen titles this year. For a free regular-print catalog and information on sale and rental prices and terms, contact Anne Somerset, Tape Worm, P.O. Box 5524, Rockville, MD 20855, or call (area code 301) 258-7618.

Sci-Fi Fan Club. Jacqueline Lichtenberg, author of House of Zeor (RC 15315), reports that her fan club's magazine is being recorded on cassettes. Ms. Lichtenberg has also written several other books for the national program, including Unto Zeor, Forever (RC 16268) and Star Trek Lives! (RC 11175). For more information on the recorded fan magazine, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Terry Terlau, 2148 Larkspur Road, Apartment 42C, Lexington, KY 40504.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently recorded for the NLS program. Books with the code RD are hard or flexible discs recorded at 8 rpm. Books with the code RC are four-track cassettes recorded at 15/16 ips. Cassette titles marked with a dagger were recorded earlier on flexible discs. To order disc or cassette books, fill out the order form and send it to your cooperating library.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Nonfiction

High Drama: Mountain Rescue Stories from Four Continents RD 16916
by Hamish MacInnes
narrated by Ken Kliban
3 discs
True stories "about climbers who went astray," many told by the participants themselves. In these accounts of disastrous expeditions, heroism is commonplace and selflessness puts ordinary sacrifice to shame. 1980.

Whatever Became of Sin? RD 16942
by Karl Menninger
narrated by Allan Edwards
4 discs
The author believes that moral values are intimately related to social and mental health. He draws upon his experiences as a psychiatrist to dramatize the need for a recognition of the concept of sin and our responsibility for our own actions. 1973.

The Graying of America: Retirement and Why You Can't Afford It RD 17221
by James Jorgensen narrated by Art Metzler
4 discs
General coverage of retirement programs, both private and public. The author scrutinizes and evaluates Social Security, company and union plans, and the Keogh and Individual Retirement acts. Jorgensen contends that knowledge is power and only by understanding what is wrong with our retirement system can we begin to effect the necessary changes. 1980.

Mary Boykin Chestnut: A Biography RD 17238
by Elisabeth Muhlenfeld
narrated by Joyce Reynolds
4 discs
Based on published works, family papers, and Chestnut's own writings, which include her famous Civil War diary and three unpublished novels. This work describes the South Carolinian's comfortable childhood, her evolution into a woman of "unusual will, intelligence and imagination," and her tension-filled marriage to lawyer-politician James Chestnut. 1981.

Give Us This Day Our Daily Bread: Asking for and Sharing Life's Necessities RD 17241
by Colleen Townsend Evans
narrated by Mitzi Friedlander
2 discs
A well-known evangelical author tells how to pray for the little things we need to keep us going from day to day. Prayers of petition, she explains, demonstrate our dependence on God for our daily existence. 1981.

The Golden Light RD 17244
by Walter Cronk
narrated by Ryan Halloran
3 discs
A retired Air Force officer, whose faith in God was strengthened by his combat experience in World War II, offers a practical approach to accepting the power and love of the Creator, regardless of one's religious or denominational preference. He explores reincarnation, life after death, and the need for godly men in a troubled world. 1964.

By Way of Response RD 17249
by Martin E. Marty narrated by Frank Coffee
2 discs
A distinguished church historian's assessment of what has been happening in the world and church over the last forty years, amplified by his own personal recollections. He calls for an ecumenical dialogue between faiths and challenges us to be more responsive to God. 1981.

How to Stand Up for Your Rights—and Win! RD 17252
by Roy M. Cohn
narrated by Ralph Lowenstein
5 discs
The controversial lawyer of the McCarthy hearings urges the meek and unwary to be aggressive in pressing their claims and gives counsel on how to anticipate problems and avoid litigation. He insists upon written agreements and offers advice on such matters as selecting a lawyer, buying a house, marriage agreements, travel, funerals, wills, and taxes. 1981.

When Bad Things Happen to Good People RD 17257
by Harold S. Kushner narrated by John Richardson
2 discs
Impelled by the personal tragedy in his own life, the author, a rabbi, tries to help others cope with grief, guilt, rage, bitterness, and bewilderment at God's "unfairness." In his search for answers to why tragedies seemingly strike those undeserving of them, he offers comfort and reassurance to the troubled. Bestseller 1981.

A Short History of World War I RD 17260
by James L. Stokesbury
narrated by Ralph Lowenstein
5 discs
An introductory, concise narrative of the Great War. Drawing upon the latest scholarship and expressing his own opinions candidly, the author moves across the theaters of the war and examines the political, diplomatic, and military aspects of the conflict. 1981.

Adrift RD 17265
by Tristan Jones
narrated by Norman Barrs
4 discs
A British seaman tells of his down-and-out experiences and struggle to survive while sailing a small boat in several parts of the world. He describes police brutality in South America, bureaucratic pettiness in England, and being penniless in New York City. Violence and strong language. 1980.

People, Books, and Book People RD 17272
by David W. McCullough
narrated by Ken Kliban
3 discs
Brief interviews with literary notables which originally appeared in the Book-of-the-Month Club News provide concise and insightful glimpses of the best and brightest of the decade's literary talent. Among those included are John Cheever, Peter De Vries, John McPhee, S. J. Perelman, and Isaac Bashevis Singer. 1981.

Dunkirk: The Patriotic Myth RD 17275
by Nicholas Harman
narrated by Ralph Lowenstein
3 discs
A sweeping narrative account based on interviews, radio scripts, technical instructions, and other documents. The author concludes that while Dunkirk was a defeat rather than a victory, the Dunkirk myth as broadcast by the British government gave an incalculable lift to the national spirit and changed the history of the world. 1980.

You're Never Too Young RD 17293
by Lawrence Welk with Bernice McGeehan
narrated by Larry Pearson
2 discs
The popular television bandleader tells how rewarding the "golden years" of life can be. He describes his expanding range of activities since reaching the age of sixty-five—debuting at Las Vegas, becoming an actor, and developing a ranch complex in California. Welk also shares his secrets of success and his recommendations for finding happiness in life. 1981.

High Hopes: The Amityville Murders RD 17294
by Gerard Sullivan and Harvey Aronson narrated by Hal Tenny
4 discs
Recreation of the actual murders which prompted the novel The Amityville Horror (RD 11121). Ronnie DeFeo rose and, as usual, showered, shaved, dressed, and went to work on November 13, 1974. Behind him, in their Amityville home, were his murdered family—mother, father, two brothers, and two sisters. The Suffolk County assistant district attorney brings out the "anti-social" personality of the killer, and the jury brings in a guilty verdict. Some strong language. 1981.

Feel Better after Fifty Food Book RD 17295
by Adeline Garner Shell and Kay Reynolds
narrated by Mitzi Friedlander
3 discs
Practical, simple guide with suggestions on how to buy better food for less money, add variety to everyday meals, and develop a sensible diet to lose, gain, or maintain weight. Includes sample menus, many cooking-for-one recipes, and a "Handy Food Finder," which shows what nutrients are needed every day and what foods supply them. 1978.

Only the Ring Was Square RD 17300 by Teddy Brenner as told to Barney Nagler narrated by Paul Baker
2 discs
Brenner tells of his forty-year career as a boxing matchmaker, providing a behind-the-scenes look at the rough, often mob-controlled business of boxing, and including colorful anecdotes about famous fighters, managers, and assorted hangers-on. Some strong language. 1981.

Pills That Don't Work: A Consumers' and Doctors' Guide to Over Six Hundred Prescription Drugs That Lack Evidence of Effectiveness RD 17317
by Sidney M. Wolfe, M.D. and others narrated by Bob Butz
5 flexible discs
Names over six hundred prescription drugs on the market that have never been proved effective and explains why each is not considered beneficial. Also includes general information on the preferred treatment for each of the five categories of diseases which are the particular target of manufacturers of the drugs listed. Bestseller 1981.

Living Alone and Liking It RD 17318
by Lynn Shahan
narrated by Yvonne Fair Tessler
3 flexible discs
Examines the practical problems and emotional pitfalls of living alone. Shahan covers the difficulties unique to the unmarried, widowed, divorced, or separated person. Her subjects include how to shop and cook for one, what to do with too much free time, and how to venture out socially without a partner. Bestseller 1981.

Pathfinders RD 17320
by Gail Sheehy
narrated by Jill Ferris
12 flexible discs
Answers the question: Why do some individuals successfully overcome life's crises, while others do not? Through interviews, case histories, and examples, the author shows some true pathfinders—people whose lives reflect a high degree of well-being, who come through an adult passage or crisis in a creative way. Bestseller 1981.

Elizabeth Taylor: The Last Star
RD 17326
by Kitty Kelley
narrated by Yvonne Fair Tessler
9 flexible discs
Depicts the well-publicized life of the beautiful actress from her days as a ten-year-old MGM protege, through lovers and husbands, to her recent stage debut on Broadway and role as a Senator's wife. Kelley portrays Taylor's glamour and singular lifestyle as a woman who is both exploiter and exploited in love. Some strong language. Bestseller 1981.

The Cinderella Complex: Women's Hidden Fear of Independence
RD 17328
by Colette Dowling
narrated by Yvonne Fair Tessler
5 flexible discs
After years of observation and research, including interviews with professionals who work with women, the author comes to the conclusion that most women have a deep psychological wish to be taken care of by someone else. Dowling analyzes the ways women are trained for helplessness and reveals how they can free themselves, since through death, desertion, or divorce, the majority of women end up alone and on their own. Bestseller 1981.

The Best of Dear Abby RD 17329
by Abigail Van Buren
narrated by Jill Ferris
3 flexible discs
Collection of the author's syndicated columns with a brief story of her life as Pauline Esther Friedman, twin of Esther Pauline, the popular columnist Ann Landers. The remainder of the book is made up of letters and snappy responses. The correspondence is arranged by topics such as marriage, sex, snoring, teen traumas, infidelity, pets, and aging. Bestseller 1981.

Elvis RD 17330
by Albert Goldman
narrated by Bob Askey
13 flexible discs
Vividly portrays the singer as the superstar, a catalyst of American popular culture—glorified, condemned, and mythicized during his reign as King of the Age of Rock. Goldman follows the King's rise and decline, emphasizing a career of truly royal stature, from living in a garish palace in Memphis to immortal divinity in his fans' eyes after his death. Strong language. Bestseller 1981.

Laid Back in Washington RD 17333
by Art Buchwald
narrated by Bob Askey
5 flexible discs
Selection of the author's syndicated newspaper columns, 1978–1980. The topics are broad-ranging—from TV in the courts to the MX missile, from the Super Bowl to autograph hounds—and the humorist spares no one. Bestseller 1981.

The Breaks of the Game RD 17338
by David Halberstam
narrated by Bob Askey
9 flexible discs
A Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist who spent the 1979–1980 season with the Portland Trail Blazers basketball team provides a revealing look at the world of professional basketball—the plays, the coaches, the owners, the money, the media, the fans, the pressures, and the animosities. Bestseller 1981.

Three Steps Forward, Two Steps Back: Persevering through Pressure RD 17503
by Charles R. Swindoll narrated by Pat Hurley
3 discs
A Protestant pastor offers practical ways to cope with the stresses of modern life through perseverance and a mature understanding of what the Bible says about adversity in Christian living. 1980.

Multiple Sclerosis: A Dragon with a Hundred Heads RD 17520
by Peter Paul Michael narrated by Larry Pearson
2 discs
The author knows the devastation of multiple sclerosis because he himself suffers from the disease. His book includes actual cases, therapy dialogues, and medical histories. He also addresses the mental realities of adjusting to the illness. 1981.

Mind over Murder RD 15840
by William X. Kienzle
narrated by Roy Avers
6 flexible discs
In Detroit's East Side, Monsignor Thomas Thompson antagonizes a number of people and then mysteriously disappears. His Cadillac is found with an empty cartridge from a .32 caliber pistol and a bloody tissue left behind. Foul play is suspected and Father Robert Koesler is called into the case by Inspector Koznicki to interpret the Catholic connection. Some strong language. 1981.

The Last Days of America RD 15875
by Paul Erdman
narrated by George Patterson
6 flexible discs
In 1985, Frank Rogers, president of a California aerospace company, makes a last-minute dash to Europe to guarantee his company a multibillion-dollar missile contract. Once there, he finds himself dealing with an $18 million slush fund, a beautiful Swiss woman prosecutor, and a bribery plot involving a crooked Belgian royal prince. All the skulduggery soon has him on the run. Some strong language. Bestseller 1981.

The Clowns of God RD 15877

by Morris West
narrated by Richard Braun
8 flexible discs
After Pope Gregory XVII claims to have received a private revelation of the Second Coming of Christ, the cardinals force his retirement to a monastery. In his retirement, he seeks the tangible evidence that will establish the truth of his revelation. Is Gregory a mystic, a lunatic, or a fanatic gambling for power? Bestseller 1981.

Reverend Randollph and the Holy Terror RD 15878

by Charles Merrill Smith
narrated by Roy Avers
5 flexible discs
A murderer known as the "Holy Terror" is gunning down the Chicago clergy with ecumenical discrimination. †Night Probe! RC 17307
by Clive Cussler
narrated by Merwin Smith
3 cassettes
Agents Dirk Pitt and Brian Shaw collide in a race to uncover a treaty that is worth billions to America, but could mean war for Great Britain. The North American Treaty, hidden for nearly seventy-five years, has been accidentally discovered by Heidi Milligan, a beautiful American naval officer. Heidi is not only involved in a romantic triangle with the two agents, but is involved in a global conflict that could alter millions of lives. Some explicit descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1981.

†The Hotel New Hampshire RC 17308
by John Irving
narrated by Bob Askey
3 cassettes
The creator of Garp introduces the Berry family, which includes five children plus a dog and a pet bear and has always lived in hotels the father manages. John, the middle son, relates all the family's favorite stories—how their mother and father fell in love, how father bought the bear, and how it learned to live with humans. Strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1981.

†Women's Work RC 17309
by Anne Tolstoi Wallach
narrated by Jill Ferris
3 cassettes
A novel of power, jealousy, and love in the glamorous world of advertising. A creative and stunning New York ad executive is fed up with the second-class treatment she receives as the only female vice-president in an old-guard agency. Her desire for success is even stronger than her love for the man who asks her to leave the frustrations of the business for him. Some strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1981.

†Shike, Book 1: Time of the Dragons RC 17310
by Robert Shea
narrated by Merwin Smith
4 cassettes
An exotic novel of imperial Japan in the thirteenth century. A young Buddhist monk of a militant sect accompanies a beautiful noblewoman from her father's house to her wedding in the capital. The journey seals their fate, and although the monk pledges his life to the lady, their karma sweeps them apart for years at a time. Bestseller 1981.

†Vermilion RC 17311
by Phyllis A. Whitney
narrated by Jill Ferris
2 cassettes
Lindsay Phillips, a New York fashion designer, receives an anonymous letter suggesting that her sister had a hand in their father's death. Lindsay's imaginary childhood playmate and adult alter ego prods her to confront the mystery of her father's death, the dark circumstances of her own birth, and her long-denied love for her brother-in-law. Bestseller 1981.

†Goodbye, Janette RC 17312
by Harold Robbins
narrated by Yvonne Fair Tessler
3 cassettes
Passion, cruelty, and intrigue in the glittering world of haute couture. A beautiful Polish countess survives World War II by her wits and eventually marries a kinky French marquis who introduces his voluptuous young stepdaughter to his own perverse pleasures. Strong language, violence, and explicit descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1981.

†Luciano's Luck RC 17314
by Jack Higgins
narrated by Merwin Smith
2 cassettes
During the summer of 1943, General Eisenhower releases gangster Lucky Luciano from an American prison on the condition that he convince the capo of the Sicilian Mafia to support the Allied invasion of Italy. Luciano's work is cut out for him since his Sicilian counterpart hates Americans. Strong language and violence. Bestseller 1981.

†Rabbit Is Rich RC 17315
by John Updike
narrated by Bob Askey
3 cassettes
In 1979 Harry (Rabbit) Angstrom finds himself fat, forty-six, and, at long last, affluent. He lives with his wife and mother-in-law in Brewer, Pennsylvania, and runs the Toyota dealership that the two women have inherited. For the first time in his life he feels almost happy—until a girl shows up at his shop. Sequel to Rabbit Redux (TB 4227). Strong language and explicit descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1981.

†The Rembrandt Panel RC 17331
by Oliver Banks
narrated by Grover Gardner
2 cassettes
The art world is shocked by the literally cutthroat murders of a seedy art runner and a moderately successful art dealer in Boston's art district. An offbeat sleuth surmises that an empty ebony frame, obviously very old and probably Dutch, is the key to the case. Some strong language. 1980.

American Rose RC 17351
by Julia Markus
narrated by Suzanne Toren
2 cassettes
Rose Addis, namesake of her fortune-telling great-grandmother, is born into a very different world from that of her forebear. Yet she inherits a strong measure of the old woman's sorrows as well as her luck and magic. The younger Rose confronts the demands of the past and the realities of the present as she makes her own way to womanhood. Some strong language. 1981.

Riddley Walker RC 17355
by Russell Hoban
narrated by George Backman
2 cassettes
In Kent, England, some 2,000 years after a nuclear holocaust has devastated Britain, twelve-year-old Riddley Walker is having his "naming day," an initiation which includes killing a wild boar. Using a phonetic language that is both familiar and unfamiliar, Riddley tells about his quest to find out about the past as well as the future. 1980.

by William Marshall
narrated by Norman Barrs
2 cassettes
Fast, funny, and baffling mystery with the likable detectives of the Yellowthread Street force of Hong Kong. Three simultaneous investigations are being carried out: Detective Auden tries to nab a cagey mugger; Inspector Spencer waits in a closet, trying to catch the "Deaf and Dumb" robbery gang in the act; and Chief Inspector Feifer is on the main case—a twenty-year-old skeleton that turns up attached to a raft in the South China Sea. 1979.

Silent Sea RC 17377
by Harry Homewood
narrated by Roy Avers
2 cassettes
In 1943, the new U.S. submarine Eelfish and its crew of regular Navy vets and raw wartime volunteers first see action in Leyte Gulf, sinking the ships of a small convoy. Captain Brannon congratulates his men on a good job but gets reprimanded for wasting torpedoes. The crew's exploits continue throughout the war. Strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. 1981.

Football Dreams RC 17381
by David Guy
narrated by Jack Fox
2 cassettes
Dan Keith, student at a prestigious prep school, longs to take his place as a man beside the father he adores. Dan chooses football as his proving ground and learns after three years that he's been running for the wrong goal. An account of the humor and pain of passage to manhood. For high school and adult readers. Some strong language. 1980.

Hannah Fowler RC 17383
by Janice Holt Giles
narrated by Dale Carter
2 cassettes (Reissue)
Raised in the wilderness by her father, Hannah knew she would be a good wife to Tice Fowler on the Kentucky frontier. Not even Hannah, though, expected to be attacked by starving wolves, frozen in blizzards, burned out of her home, and taken by Indians. 1956.

The Rise of Silas Lapham RC 17384

In Brief

Updike Novel Wins Awards

Novelist John Updike this year won the National Book Critics Circle and American Book awards for his latest book, Rabbit Is Rich, recently produced on flexible discs and cassettes for the national talking-book collection (FD 17315 and RC 17315). Other American Book award winners were Mornings on Horseback (FD 16977, RC 16977), a biography of young Teddy Roosevelt by David G. McCullough, and The Soul of a New Machine (FD 17316, RC 17316), a story of the race to design a new computer by Tracy Kidder.

In his twenty or more years of writing, Updike has been singled out for distinction among contemporary American novelists on several occasions. He began his career in 1955 as a staff reporter for the New Yorker magazine's "Talk of the Town" column and soon turned to fiction.

Updike's novels explore the tensions of everyday life in America. His Rabbit novels follow the frantic, harried Harry ("Rabbit") Angstrom, an ex-high school basketball hero in flight from and to married stability. On his writing, Updike comments, "I am still trying to extend my scope, seeking greater precision and exhaustiveness, wanting to be true to life, being faithful to the essential strangeness I feel in the mundane. . . ."

The following is a list of novels by John Updike in the national talking-book collection. The asterisk after the brief description indicates the book contains passages with strong language, violence, or explicit descriptions of sex.

Discs

Couples (RD 6266). Couples in their thirties play together, party together, and sleep together.*

Marry Me (RD 9897). Lighthearted tale of well-to-do suburbanites in the 1960s.*

Magazine Corner

Farm News

Readers who want up-to-date information on farming can order free subscriptions to Farm Journal, produced monthly by NLS in a flexible-disc edition with two annual supplements.

Called the "business magazine" of farming, Farm Journal studies marketplace dynamics and economic trends affecting American farm families. It is one of the oldest, most widely read magazines of its kind in the nation with a current circulation of 1.5 million.

Monthly issues cover corn, wheat and soybean price forecasts, weather information, and news from Washington. Issues include recipes, dress patterns, and columns on family relationships. Feature articles explore new machinery and foreign crop markets influencing domestic prices. Special columns discuss matters of interest to beef and hog farmers. Because of its focus on the market, the magazine provides useful information to economists, investors, and American farmers interested in long-term planning.

For a free subscription to Farm Journal or other magazines on flexible discs, readers should write or call their cooperating libraries.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. Materials mentioned here, however, are not part of the NLS program.

Aids Catalog. McGraw-Hill Book Company has published the 246-page regular-print Catalog of Aids for the Disabled, by Nancy and Jack Kreisler. Amply illustrated with photographs, the catalog lists brief descriptions for more than 800 aids and appliances in thirteen categories, from "In and Out of Bed" to "Safety from Crime." Descriptions indicate price ranges and suppliers. The catalog, priced at $24.95 a copy, may be ordered at local bookstores (ISBN 0–07–035475–8).

Bible Study Magazine. Gospel Messenger is now being produced in cassette and braille editions. This religious monthly offers hymns, poems, and articles on the Bible. For information on subscriptions, write to the Gospel Association for the Blind, 4705 North Federal Highway, Boca Raton, FL 33431, or call (area code 305) 395-0022.

Book Discussion Club. Evangelical Message is forming a club to discuss books on self-improvement and Christian psychology. Membership is free. Members receive free cassettes, which they return with their recorded comments. The books for discussion are recorded on cassette and are available from the library. For more information, write to Evangelical Message, 61 South Lee Street, Beverly Hills, Lecanto, FL 32665.

Interfaith Magazine. With its August issue, Guideposts magazine began producing a 15/16 ips cassette edition. Monthly issues, edited and published by Ruth and Norman Vincent Peale, carry inspirational stories and articles for people of all faiths. The magazine is also produced in 8 rpm disc, large-print, regular-print, and braille editions. To order an annual subscription, send a check or money order for $5.95 to Guideposts Associates, Carmel, NY 10512. Be sure to specify which edition is desired.

Science Fiction and Fantasy. Science Fiction for the Blind has a small lending library of titles recorded on cassettes. The collection contains science fact, fiction, and fantasy, as well as detective fiction, romances, and nonfiction books on neopaganism and Christianity. The organization also produces four magazines. For a complete listing of titles free on loan, write to Science Fiction for the Blind, RFD #1 Box 63, Center Harbor, NH 03226, or call (area code 603) 253-6207, between 8:00 a.m. and 10:00 p.m., Eastern Time.

Books for Adults

These books were recently sent to cooperating libraries. Books on hard discs are labeled with the code RD; flexible-disc books, with the code FD; and cassette books, with the code RC. All disc books have been recorded at the speed of 8 rpm; the cassette books have been recorded at 15/16 ips. Cassette titles marked with a dagger were produced earlier on flexible discs. To order disc or cassette books, fill out the order form and send it to your cooperating library.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Nonfiction

Authentic Wild West: The Lawmen FD 16513

By James D. Horan
narrated by Ray Hagen
7 flexible discs
The story of the men who tried to preserve law and order in the Old West, based on eyewitness accounts, newspaper reports, memoirs, and other primary sources. Stresses the reality of the careers of Bill Masterson, Wyatt Earp, Bill Tilghman, and others over the myths that have sprung up about them. 1980.

The Man in the Crowd: Confessions of a Sports Addict RD 17278

by Stanley Cohen
narrated by Larry Robinson
4 discs
The world of sports is the prism through which Cohen views the part forty years, recreating great contests and events exactly as he experienced them. 1981.

Mrs. Harris: The Death of the Scarsdale Diet Doctor RD 17283

by Diana Trilling
narrated by Catherine Byers
5 discs
Documentation and analysis of the trial of Jean Harris for the murder of her lover, Dr. Herman Tarnower. Trilling's original impression of Harris as the "wronged" woman cast aside for a young rival changes as she comes to see her as a victim of a new upper-middle-class phenomenon: equating social status with power. Some strong language. 1981.

Portrait of an Election: The 1980 Presidential Campaign RD 17292

by Elizabeth Drew narrated by Joyce Reynolds
9 discs
Detailed chronicle of events and penetrating analyses of candidates' motives, problems, and successes. Drew permits the candidates and their advisors to speak at length as she takes us from the primary campaigns through the conventions and the election itself. 1981.

Secret Go the Wolves RD 17299
by R. D. Lawrence narrated by Paul Jones
3 discs
A vivid personal account by a naturalist who raised two orphaned wolf cubs from infancy with the intent of returning them to the wilderness. Lawrence faced his most terrifying moment when the male wolf attacked him to challenge his dominance as alpha male in the household. 1980.

The Heart of a Woman FD 17325
by Maya Angelou
narrated by Yvonne Fair Tessler
6 flexible discs
The author continues her autobiography into the early 1960s—a period that saw Angelou heavily involved in civil rights. She tells of her recollections of such black activists as Martin Luther King, Malcolm X, and James Baldwin, and also recounts the details of her affair with South African freedom fighter Make. Sequel to Singin' and Swingin' and Gettin' Merry Like Christmas (RD 10251). Strong language. Bestseller 1981.

A Few Minutes with Andy Rooney FD 17339
by Andrew A. Rooney
narrated by Bob Askey
3 flexible discs
Collection of more than fifty of the Emmy Award-winning author's essays, including his commentaries on houses, hotels, chairs, New York City, war, Washington, dinner, and work. Humorous and wry work. Bestseller 1981.

New Rules: Searching for Self-Fulfillment in a World Turned Upside Down FD 17340
by Daniel Yankelovich
narrated by Ray Hagen
6 flexible discs
A social scientist draws a compelling portrait of Americans conducting risky experiments in living as they seek, in addition to material well-being, such intangibles as creativity, autonomy, adventure, and tender loving care in their lives. Overall, Yankelovich finds a new ethic of commitment emerging and an urge to make industrial society a more suitable place for human life. Bestseller 1981.

The Walk West: A Walk across America, 2 FD 17346
by Peter and Barbara Jenkins
narrated by Bob Askey
7 flexible discs
In 1976 this newly married couple headed west from New Orleans to walk across America together. They reached the Pacific two and a half years later, having defied death many times over with the help of friendly souls who welcomed and assisted them along the way. This book is a celebration of the great land and the great people they experienced. Sequel to A Walk across America (RC 14204). Bestseller 1981.

A Farewell to Heroes RD 17510
by Frank Graham, Jr.
narrated by Larry Robinson
4 discs
The author reminisces about his childhood, when he accompanied his sportswriter father on assignments, and about his own early days as a sportswriter. Incorporating excerpts from his father's columns and drawing upon his own experiences, he paints a nostalgic portrait of the New York sports scene between the 1920s and the 1960s. 1981.

Nothing Can Go Wrong RD 17514
by John H. Kilpack with John D. MacDonald narrated by Andy Chappell
5 discs
A cruise ship captain and a writer join forces in this collaboration describing the details of the last pleasure cruise of the U.S.S. Mariposa in 1977. Together they provide insights and humorous anecdotes about ship's operations, eccentric passengers, problems with the crew, crises with immigration and customs officials, and dealings with incompetent harbor pilots, all the while being assured by shipping company managers that nothing can go wrong. 1981.

Ike and Mamie: The Story of the General and His Lady RD 17518
by Lester and Irene David narrated by Janis Gray
4 discs
Explores the complex relationship between Mamie, the spoiled daughter of a prominent Denver family, and Ike, the genial but short-tempered son of an unsuccessful small-town Kansas dairyman. Covers the Eisenhowers through their White House years, Ike's heart attacks, retirement at Gettysburg, and Mamie's widowhood. 1981.

A Reason to Live! A Reason to Die! A New Look at Faith in God RD 17519

The Virus That Ate Cannibals RD 17534
by Carol Eron
narrated by Richard Dorf
3 discs
Biographical, intellectual, and historical backgrounds are blended into sprightly accounts of scientists laboring to defeat viral diseases, including yellow fever, polio, and kuru, a bizarre neurological disease in New Guinea. The anatomy of a cold is also described. 1981.

Strangers and Pilgrims: The Last Italian Migration RD 17535
by Ann Cornelisen
narrated by Catherine Byers
4 discs
Explores the realities of a major social phenomenon of the 1960s and 1970s: the migration of hundreds of thousands of Italian workers from southern Italy to northern industrial Germany. Cornelisen tells what it means to leave home and begin again—how it feels to be outsiders—pilgrims who remain strangers. 1980.

Friends from the Forest RD 17536
by Joy Adamson
narrated by Janis Gray
1 disc
Two posthumously published accounts by a world-renowned animal lover. On the grounds of her bungalow in Kenya, Joy Adamson befriended two sets of rare visitors—a family of Colobus monkeys and a pair of Verreaux's eagle owls, the largest owls in Africa. A candid foreword by Juliette Huxley contributes an illuminating sketch of the late author. 1981.

Halfway around the World: An Improbable Journey RD 17552
by Gavin Young narrated by Patrick Horgan
7 discs
The author, a correspondent for the London Observer, embarks on the fulfillment of his long-held romantic dream in 1977: port-hopping to the other side of the world. His adventure takes him from Piraeus to Jedda, from Dubai to Singapore, and from there to Canton, scrambling his way on board an assortment of twenty-three ships, one of which nearly sinks in the Arabian Sea. 1981.

They Shoot Canoes, Don't They? RD 17553
by Patrick F. McManus narrated by Buckley Kozlow
3 discs
Tongue-in-cheek tales about a sportsman's life. McManus celebrates the hidden pleasures and the opportunities for disaster in the recreations of camping, hunting, and fishing. Amusing accounts of his dog Strange and an incorrigible old woodsman, Rancid Crabtree, are included. 1981.

The Star-Spangled Retirement Dream RD 17555
by James Gollin
narrated by Jerry Fordyce

A matter-of-fact account about a glamorous job. Numerous interviews provided the data on temperament, training, education, responsibilities, and rewards. For grades 5-8 and older armchair flying buffs. 1978.

SuperAnimals and Their Unusual Careers RC 17445
by Virginia Phelps Clemens narrated by Wes Norred
1 cassette
Describes many jobs performed by working animals—German shepherds that sniff out bombs, ponies that help disabled riders, hearing-ear dogs, animal actors, and a wrestling bear who has won more than 50,000 matches. For grades 4-7. 1979.

Bear Cub Scout Book RC 17446
by the Boy Scouts of America narrated by Chris Hurt
1 cassette
Handbook for the second phase of Cub Scouting explains the requirements for completing the Bear achievements and electives. For grades 2-4. 1979.

Go with the Poem RC 17450
selected by Lilian Moore narrated by Rosemary Schwartzel
1 cassette
A varied collection of mostly contemporary poems by such noted poets as Lucille Clifton, Robert Frost, Archibald MacLeish, and Carl Sandburg. The poems celebrate the city, the joy of sport, the change of seasons, a puppy at the seashore, and many other everyday wonders. For grades 5-8 and older readers. 1979.

Cassettes Fiction

Arthur and the Great Detective RC 17040
by Alan Coren
narrated by Phyllis Fabara
1 cassette
Arthur, a brilliant child detective, joins forces with Sherlock Holmes and his sidekick Watson to solve the mystery of a shipboard robbery. Farfetched fun for grades 4-7. 1979.

The Girl with the Silver Eyes RC 17387
by Willo Davis Roberts
narrated by Sylvia Grandmaison
1 cassette
A ten-year-old girl who has always looked different from other children discovers that she has unusual powers—she can move things by thinking about them, and she can talk to animals. Even she is surprised, though, to discover that there are other children like her. For grades 4-7. 1980.

The Wicked Tricks of Tyl Uilenspiegel RC 17394 retold by Jay Williams narrated by Tina Klinkhamer
1 cassette
Four humorous tales about a Dutch folk hero, a light-hearted rogue who performs outrageous tricks. Includes a Christmas story in which Tyl tricks the Spanish soldiers attacking a starving Dutch town into feeding their own sumptuous Christmas dinner to the hungry Dutchmen. For grades 4-7 and older readers. 1978.

Step on a Crack RC 17434
by Mary Anderson
narrated by Mary Woods
1 cassette
Sarah is plagued by recurrent nightmares about killing her mother, a very loving and sensitive woman. When an aunt whom she has never seen comes to visit, Sarah also begins to walk in her sleep. Taut psychological suspense for grades 6-9 and older readers. 1978.

The Horse and His Boy RC 17438
by C. S. Lewis
narrated by Grant Sheehan
1 cassette (Reissue)
A talking horse and his boy escape from a barbaric army marching to attack the land of Narnia. Their race to warn of the army's advance on the king's castle is frought with danger. Fifth story in the Chronicles of Narnia. For grades 4-7 and older readers. 1954.

The First Two Lives of Lukas-Kasha RC 17443
by Lloyd Alexander narrated by Bonnie Isaacs
1 cassette
After paying a silver penny to a magician to perform in the town square, a carpenter's helper is conjured to a strange place where the people call him King of Abadan. He enjoys his position as king until grave dangers become apparent as he experiences his royal power. A fantasy for grades 5-8. 1978.

The Moon by Night RC 17449
by Madeleine L'Engle narrated by Laura Giannarelli
2 cassettes
Fifteen-year-old Vicky Austin tells the story of her family's cross-country camping trip. Along the way she meets a boy her parents don't like, and for the first time she feels the mixed emotions of friendship and love. For grades 6-9. 1963.

The Box of Delights: When the Wolves Were Running RC 17451
by John Masefield
narrated by Flo Gibson
2 cassettes
A strange old man with a Punch and Judy show gives a boy a magic box that takes him back in time to the days of King Arthur and beyond. A mysterious adventure for grades 4-7 and older readers. 1957.

The Midnight Folk RC 17654
by John Masefield
narrated by Flo Gibson
2 cassettes
With the help of some strange folk, a young boy works to solve the mystery of a shipload of treasure that disappeared with his great-grandfather, a ship captain, long ago. Precedes The Box of Delights (RC 16600). An adventure-fantasy for grades 4-7 and older readers. Originally published in 1927. 1957.

Carry On, Mr. Bowditch RC 17659
by Jean Lee Latham
narrated by Jim Jernigan
1 cassette (Reissue)
A fictionalized biography of Nathaniel Bowditch, the American sailor who taught himself mathematics and astronomy and discovered a new method of celestial navigation that saved the lives of many seamen. Historical details are coupled with the romance and adventure of old Salem. For grades 6-9 and older readers. Newbery Medal. 1955.

Talking Book Topics is published bimonthly and distributed free to blind and physically handicapped individuals who participate in the Library of Congress free reading program. It covers news of developments and activities in library services, and lists recorded books and magazines available through a national network of cooperating libraries.

The current annotated listing is limited to titles recently added to the national collection, which contains thousands of fiction and nonfiction titles, including classics, biographies, gothics, mysteries, and how-to and self-help guides. To learn more about the wide range of books in the national collection, readers may order catalogs and subject bibliographies from cooperating libraries. Librarians can check other resources for titles and answer requests for special materials.

Subscription information for Talking Book Topics is located on the inside back cover. Correspondence regarding editorial matters should be sent to: Publication and Media Section, National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress, Washington, DC 20542.

In Brief

Social Security Brochures Recorded

The Social Security Administration, in cooperation with NLS, has recorded three of its publications—Your Social Security, SSI for Aged, Disabled, and Blind People, and Your Medicare Handbook. The recording, on one flexible disc, is packaged with the November–December Talking Book Topics disc. Subscribers to Talking Book Topics in large-print may order copies of the recording from cooperating libraries.

Your Social Security provides basic information about Social Security benefits for retirement, survivors, and disability, as well as eligibility requirements for benefits. It explains how protection is earned, who can receive monthly payments, how benefit amounts are calculated, and when and where to contact Social Security.

SSI for Aged, Disabled, and Blind People briefly describes the supplemental security income program (SSI). It tells who can qualify for payments and how to apply. It also describes other help, such as social services and Medicaid, available to SSI recipients.

Your Medicare Handbook is a comprehensive explanation of the federal health insurance program for people sixty-five or older and certain disabled people. It describes what Medicare does and does not cover and how payments are made for covered services. The handbook also has instructions on filing Medicare medical insurance claims and offers advice on buying private supplemental health insurance.

For more information about these programs and any recent amendments to Social Security and Medicare legislation, readers should call their local Social Security office.

Magazine Corner

World Watching

Subscribers to U.S. News and World Report and Foreign Affairs enjoy coverage of the international news beat in breadth and in depth. Both these print magazines have for years ranked as leaders in their respective fields—U.S. News and World Report, as a weekly for the general public, and Foreign Affairs, published five times a year for students, scholars, and specialists. Subscriptions to the flexible-disc editions are free to readers in the NLS program.

U.S. News and World Report, founded in 1933, provides extensive current news on world and national affairs, with an emphasis on business. The September 13 issue, for example, ran feature articles on the conflict of U.S. and European interests over the Soviet pipeline, the Reagan administration's Mideast proposal, and the state of the job market. Issues include regular columns such as "Worldgram," "World Business," and "News You Can Use," which dispense information in succinct newsroom teletype fashion.

Foreign Affairs, published since 1922 by the Council on Foreign Relations, examines international affairs and policy in detail. The magazine serves as a forum of debate for experts and decision makers and, from time to time, as a testing ground for official policy. In the summer 1982 issue, former U.S. Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher outlined a five-point recommendation for improving foreign-affairs cooperation between the legislative and executive branches. Issues include ''Comment and Correspondence'' containing responses to articles, a lengthy book-review section arranged by subject area, and a subject listing of source materials.

Readers can order free subscriptions to U.S. News and World Report, Foreign Affairs, and other magazines produced for the NLS program by writing or calling a cooperating library.

American Legion Records Magazine

The American Legion is recording Talking American Legion Magazine on 8-rpm flexible discs. The monthly magazine contains articles on current world events and trends, consumer topics, and veterans' affairs and rights.

The magazine is mailed free directly to American Legionnaires enrolled in the NLS program. For a free subscription and more information, write to Talking American Legion Magazine, P.O. Box 1055, Indianapolis, IN 46206.

Repairs, Service, Information

Always Ask First

When readers have questions about machines needing repair, the first place to contact is a cooperating library—the library that provides the service. There are currently 160 cooperating libraries, but a number of readers have been sending their broken machines to NLS in Washington, DC, thus adding considerable delays.

Before returning machines for repair or service, readers can save time by first calling or writing the cooperating library that supplies their books. Cooperating libraries can answer questions about service and requests for disc or cassette players and accessories such as headphones and phonograph needles. Some libraries may not actually repair or distribute machines or accessories, but their staff know where to refer readers for these services.

Versatile Narrator Bob Askey

Bob Askey is a man of several skills. To many talking-book readers he is a spellbinding narrator. His townspeople in Longmont, Colorado, know him as a civic leader.

Bob Askey traces his beginnings as a narrator to early radio experience in Nebraska and South Dakota. His involvement in city affairs dates back to 1975. Annoyed by the city's inability to get things done quickly for lack of an adequate budget, he ran for and won a seat on city council, where he served from 1975 to 1979, and was later elected mayor from 1979 to 1981. As mayor of Longmont, he saw the city complete several projects and plan further expansion by attracting new industries to the area.

Askey got his start in 1971 as a narrator for Talking Books Publishing Company in Denver, Colorado, after a successful career in radio. Narrator Edd Perkins, a friend and fellow broadcaster in Boulder, introduced him to the nearby talking-book studios. Bob credits his interest in communications to Alva Cavett, father of TV host Dick and teacher of English literature at Askey's hometown high school in Lincoln, Nebraska. After a summer job as a scriptwriter for a local radio station, he decided on his career and enrolled in the University of Nebraska with a major in broadcasting, working for his tuition at local stations. In 1968, after a long stint at bandleader Lawrence Welk's home station in Yankton, South Dakota, he took on a position in the station at Boulder and work as a narrator in nearby Denver.

Working for the talking-book program, Askey has recorded close to a hundred books, mostly bestsellers produced on flexible discs and cassettes. His ability to convey action and interest without resorting to theatrics has made him one of many favorite narrators among readers of talking books.

The following is a brief list of titles narrated by Bob Askey. An asterisk after the brief description indicates the book contains strong language, violence, or explicit descriptions of sex.

On/Off Remote Controls for Disc and Cassette Machines

For physically handicapped readers, particularly those confined to bed or with limited mobility, a new remote-control unit can aid in independent use of NLS disc and cassette machines. The unit turns any NLS playback machine on or off when the machine is within hearing range but too far away to reach, or if the machine's on and off switches are too difficult to handle. Other machine controls, such as volume and tone, must be set in advance.

The new remote-control unit is planned to make NLS program materials more accessible and easier to use for severely handicapped readers. It is now available for patrons who are certified as eligible by their cooperating library.

The two-part remote unit consists of a transmitter, operated by the reader, and a receiver, which must be attached to the playback machine. For cassette machines, the receiver is plugged into the remote jack on the side of the machine. Disc machines must be plugged into the receiver, which is, in turn, plugged into an electrical outlet.

A light touch activates the transmitter. An additional option for patrons who need this type of control is a breath switch, which plugs into the transmitter.

The remote-control unit operates by ultrasonic sound within a range of fifty feet. The units are set at different frequencies to prevent interference and color-coded black, beige, or orange according to frequency.

Remote-control units are the most recently produced machine accessory for patrons with special needs, but they are only one of several such aids. Others are extension levers for cassette controls, tone-arm clips for disc machines, pillowphones, amplifier headphones for readers with hearing loss, and solar panels for recharging cassette batteries.

Certification of need is required before issuing other accessories besides remote controls. Such certification is particularly vital in the case of the amplifier, whose volume level could damage normal hearing if used improperly.

Books for Children

These books were recently sent to cooperating libraries. Books on hard discs are labeled with the code RD; flexible-disc books, with the code FD; and cassette books, with the code RC. All disc books have been recorded at the speed of 8 rpm; the cassette books have been recorded at 15/16 ips. Cassette titles marked with a dagger were produced earlier on flexible discs. To order disc or cassette books, fill out the order form and send it to your cooperating library.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."
